Reflection

Dear Parents,

I hope that you all had a fantastic weekend and have found the start of this week both positive and productive. If you are need of some humour and entertainment at the end of your Monday, I hear that there is an excellent comment stream of jokes from the community on Twitter that you can enjoy! I look forward to reading this later on.

I have had some fantastic questions from pupils coming into my inbox today, please do encourage your child to email their teachers for help whether they require academic or pastoral support. We are here to help.

Tomorrow we will have an extra focus on English in the morning and evening messages and, as part of this, Laura Andrade has shared some tips for both pupils and parents.

Very best wishes for a relaxing evening,

Mary Bridges
